Citizens Police Review Board (CPRB),

I am formally filing an appeal of the decision to exonerate the SWAT officers involved in the arrest made at 1501 Kinloch Court on 2/11/2010.

- 1) There was no evidence that the small dog was a threat to the safety of the officers. Shooting this dog was unwarranted.
- 2) The arrestee was compliant. There was no reason to manhandle him. If a civilian did this to another civilian, he would be arrested for battery or assault.
- 3) There was no reason for a forced entry. If that is ordinary procedure in Columbia, MO then perhaps your whole training program is out of bounds of civil procedure and should be reevaluated.
- 4) Additionally I want to file a complaint against the police chief who decided to exonerate the officers. This police chief knew his officers were violating standard procedure and should work diligently to right this obstruction of justice. The officers involved should also be evaluated by an independent psychiatrist to see if they should continue to be allowed to carry weapons: they are a danger to society.

Sincerely,
